

Tackling root causes of violence against women: Engaging men and boys

Young men in Kosovo who are taking part in CARE's 'Be a Man' project © CARE/CLAUDIA ADOLPHS

What more can donors, governments and non-governmental organisations do to engage men and boys in preventing sexual and gender-based violence?

1pm – 2.30pm Wednesday 11 June 2014 at the ExCel Conference Centre, London

CARE International UK invites you to a panel discussion:

- How do programmes engaging men and boys fit within a holistic approach to preventing sexual and gender-based violence?
- What are the effective strategies for engaging men at different levels? – both collectively through education and social movements, and individually through psychosocial support.
- What more can donors and governments do to better support this work and ensure effective engagement with men and boys?

Lunch will be provided.

Panellists will include staff of CARE International, CARE Balkans, and Promundo together with bilateral and multilateral donor representatives